Dear Sirs

The Berrow Foundation's Lord Florey Scholarships in Medical, Chemical and Biochemical Sciences

Once again we are able to offer two substantial and attractive graduate scholarships, available to candidates of either Swiss or Liechtenstein nationality, domiciled in either Switzerland or Liechtenstein, who would like the opportunity to pursue postgraduate study at the University of Oxford.

The Scholarships are open to candidates who are graduates of any Swiss university including the ETHZ and the EPFL, and who must not be more than five years beyond graduation from their first degree at one of the named institutions. They cover full college and university fees, board and lodging, as well as a generous allowance, for up to three years for candidates accepted to read for a graduate degree in medical, chemical or biochemical sciences at Oxford University as members of Lincoln College. The Scholarships are part of an existing programme which also offers other such awards annually in other subject areas.

Prospective candidates should note that research which involves the use of human embryos or their creation, including by cloning, or the use of human embryonic stem cells will NOT be funded by the Foundation.

I enclose with this letter further information about the Scholarships and details of how to apply. The deadline for submission of applications for entry in the academic year 2017-18 is 20 JANUARY 2017.

As you will understand, these awards offer students a unique chance to experience graduate life at an internationally renowned University, which offers superb facilities and resources for research. I do hope that you can interest some of your students in the idea of taking such an opportunity. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you would like any further information, which can also be found on our website at: <http://www.lincoln.ox.ac.uk>.

Yours faithfully

THE BERROW FOUNDATION'S LORD
FLOREY SCHOLARSHIPS FOR POSTGRADUATE STUDIES IN MEDICAL,
CHEMICAL AND BIOCHEMICAL SCIENCES

The Berrow Foundation awards up to two fully-funded scholarships each year to enable graduates of Swiss universities to study for Master or Doctoral degrees in the University of Oxford as members of Lincoln College. The Berrow Foundation Lord Florey Scholarships cover full College and University fees and College accommodation costs, and provide a generous living allowance, for candidates accepted to read for a graduate degree in medical, chemical or biochemical sciences at Oxford University as members of Lincoln College. Scholars also have access to a generous research fund to assist with the cost of travel to conferences. The awards may be held for up to three years.

The awards are open to candidates who are nationals of, and domiciled in, either Switzerland or Liechtenstein and who are, or will be, graduates from any Swiss university, including the ETHZ and the EPFL. Candidates must not be more than five years beyond graduation from their first degree.

Prospective candidates should note that research which involves the use of human embryos or their creation, including by cloning, or the use of human embryonic stem cells will NOT be funded by this Foundation. Lincoln College fully respects the Foundation's inability to fund such research. The College, however, welcomes applications from candidates interested in this or related areas of research, who are able to find financial support from other sources.

Applicants will be interested to note that Lord Florey's Nobel prize-winning work at Lincoln College on the development of penicillin has had great importance in Switzerland, as it led to the closure of many sanatoriums, especially in Davos and Leysin.

Further particulars and application forms can be downloaded from www.lincoln.ox.ac.uk. Applications must be submitted by 20 January 2017 to The Rector's Office, Lincoln College, Oxford, OX1 3DR email: rectors.office@lincoln.ox.ac.uk.
