

Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research, Oxford DPhil Studentships

Fully funded 4 year studentships are available commencing October 2013

Benefits include:

- £18,000 p.a. tax free bursary
- University fees (EU /home rate only) and College fees
- World Class research environment, with state of the art laboratories and equipment
- The opportunity to work and study in the historical city of Oxford

The available projects are as follows:

Project: Investigating hydroxylases that target the protein synthesis apparatus and their potential as cancer targets.

Supervisors: Dr Matthew Cockman (principle supervisor) and Prof Peter Ratcliffe.

Project: Epigenetic reprogramming of the HIF transcriptional response in kidney cancer

Supervisors: Dr David Mole (principle supervisor) and Prof Peter Ratcliffe.

Project: Role of vascular-specification transcription factors in tumour angiogenesis

Supervisors: Dr Sarah De Val (principle supervisor) and Prof Colin Goding.

Project: Regulation of tumour-specific vascular genes

Supervisors: Dr Sarah De Val (principle supervisor) and Prof Colin Goding

For further information on the projects, funding, how to apply and entry requirement please visit:

<http://www.ludwig.ox.ac.uk/studentships>

The application deadline is 31st March 2013.

All applications are subject to the University of Oxford entry requirements.